Proposed models for undertaking Safeguarding Adults Reviews

1 The criteria for Safeguarding Adults Reviews (SARs)

- 1.1 Safeguarding Adults Boards (SAB's) are required to arrange a SAR when an adult in its area dies as a result of abuse or neglect, whether known or suspected, and there is concern that partner agencies could have worked more effectively to protect the adult.
- 1.2 A SAR must also be arranged if an adult in its area has not died, but the SAB knows or suspects that the adult has experienced serious abuse or neglect. In the context of SARs, something can be considered serious abuse or neglect where, for example the individual would have been likely to have died but for an intervention, or has suffered permanent harm or quality of life (whether because of physical or psychological effects) as a result of the abuse or neglect.
- 1.3 The adult who is the subject of any SAR need not have been in receipt of care and support services for the SAB to arrange a review in relation to them.
- 1.4 One key goal of the SAR Subgroup should be with weighing up what type of 'review' process will promote effective learning and improvement action, for example where a case can provide useful insights into the way organisations are working together to prevent and reduce abuse and neglect of adults, or to explore examples of good practice where this is likely to identify lessons that can be applied to future cases.
- 1.5 Where the group believes a review is not within the scope of SAB, it can make recommendations to other organisation(s) that a review is conducted under alternative mechanisms.
